Rally 4 the Planet Event

Thursday, June 9 11:00 AM Legislative Hall/Dover

Now it's ever more important to show up for the Rally 4 the Planet we are organizing at Legislative Hall on June 9

We need a 50% reduction in greenhouse gas emissions by 2030 and a strong net-zero goal by 2050. We need all state agencies at the table to make sure we will be able to meet these goals, and we need the climate action plan to be updated every 5 years. To put it very clearly, we need bold action!

We know that a bill is being drafted, but we also know that time is running out on both this legislative session and our ability to address this crisis. The opposition to renewable energy and climate science will attack whatever comes next. We need to turn up on June 9th and show the legislature that Delaware wants—no, needs—climate action to be a priority in 2022.

Will you join us? This is not the time to sit on the sidelines.. this is the time to show up!! Bring a friend or two. If you can offer a car ride or would like car ride. Please email back and we can make arrangements.

Register to attend on June 9 at 11:00AM at:

From the Desk of the Executive Director . . .

Again this week, we are reeling from the reports around another mass shooting, this time in a Texas elementary school. That's twice inside of two weeks that innocent children and adults have been killed by a young male with an assault-type weapon. Many say they are shocked by this situation, but do they (or do you) realize that multiple news outlets count more than 200 mass shootings in 2022 alone?

When my daughter was in high school in 2008, she conducted some research about the number of guns per capita in various countries. The only statistic that we remember from that research is that in 2008, the U.S. counted an average of 16 guns per capita. That number has decreased to about 5, but the U.S. still has the greatest percentage of the population owning guns than any other country, by a magnitude of two or more. The U.S. is listed as #1 in gun ownership, whereas Switzerland, whose population is known for training pretty much every citizen in responsible gun usage, is ranked as 19th.

Other countries have suffered mass shootings. Some of these took action to prevent this from recurring. Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and Norway all have been known for their populations' attraction to gun usage. Following mass shootings, however, all these countries either banned specific weapons or placed increased restrictions on gun ownership and registration. Their levels of gun violence, including suicide, is now far lower, per capita, than in the U.S.

The difference between these countries is in the power of their respective gun lobbies. We all know that many American politicians take thousands, hundreds of thousands, or millions of dollars from the NRA. A colleague shared with me that he had spoken to a Delaware state legislator about gun reform. The legislator had, unfortunately, received campaign money from the gun lobby. My colleague encouraged the representative to think independently and do what she knew was in the best interest and safety of her constituents. Sadly, he reported that he did not appear to make any headway. This same colleague marveled that it often is the same politicians who would ban abortion who then will turn around and refuse to take action when children are killed by gun violence.

Let's also consider the weapons used in mass shootings. Most often, they have been assault weapons of some kind. If you study the history of the NRA, you will see that its early history revolved around marksmanship tournaments and hunting. Now, the organization insists on citizens' rights to own assault weapons, which is not very practical for hunting or marksmanship contests. In fact, the only real use for an assault weapon is to kill people. Why are we not concerned about this? Why are we not concerned that there may be individuals or groups out there who are bent on killing other fellow Americans?

Rev. Dr. Susan Henry-Crowe at the General Board of Church and Society implores us to "recognize that gun violence* has become an all-too-frightening phenomenon. Now more than ever, let's stand together in "Our Call to End Gun Violence." (2016 Book of Resolutions, #3428)...Please act now. Call the Capitol switchboard at 202-224-3121 and demand action to prevent gun violence and enact lifesaving gun legislation."

*<https://www.umcjustice.org/documents/18>

<https://www.umcjustice.org/what-we-care-about/peace-with-justice/gun-violence-prevention>

In closing, I want to make you aware that there actually are now 22 victims of the recent mass shooting in Texas. John Garcia, husband of teacher Irma Garcia, succumbed to what may have been a heart attack (or was it a broken heart?) just hours after placing flowers at her memorial. How long will this kind of suffering continue. Until we have meaningful gun restrictions in this nation, make no mistake – none of us are safe, anywhere. If we all thought more about this every time we walked out of our doors or sent our children off to school, maybe something would finally get done about it.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Foster Parenting - Cayuga Centers of Delaware

My name is Andrea McCoy-Carty, Foster Parent Ambassador for Cayuga Centers of Delaware. As Foster Parent Ambassador, my goal is to provide pragmatic strategies and resources for recruiting and retaining foster families. Thus, continuing to provide a pool of prospective and well-trained applicants for foster care licensure, while assisting in community outreach.

The key is working together with other professionals and stakeholders in designing and planning fostering services. Most foster parents find the work rewarding but often describe it as demanding as they manage challenging situations

Fostering with Cayuga Centers means, receiving daily support from empathetic staff all while respecting "social distance". Stability is the key factor for the foster youth in achieving positive outcomes.
